

Speaker Biographies –

Martin D. Madaus, Ph.D. is Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Millipore Corporation. Dr. Madaus joined Millipore in January 2005 as President and Chief Executive Officer and became Chairman of the Board in March 2005.

Dr. Madaus came to Millipore from Roche Diagnostics Corporation where, as President and Chief Executive Officer, he led a $1.9 billion business. Prior to that, he was Vice President of Business Development for Roche Molecular Diagnostics. Dr. Madaus joined Roche in 1998 when he was general manager of Boehringer Mannheim Canada in Montreal, Quebec, through the acquisition of Boehringer Mannheim by Roche. From 1989 to 1998, Dr. Madaus worked at Boehringer Mannheim in senior management, sales and marketing, and product management roles both in Germany and in the United States.

Dr. Madaus is a native of Hamburg, Germany and holds a D.V.M. and Ph.D. in veterinary medicine. He is married and has three sons.

Brock Reeve, a graduate of Yale University and the Harvard Business School, is Executive Director of the Harvard Stem Cell Institute. Brock comes to Harvard from the commercial sector with extensive experience in both management consulting and operations for technology-based companies, with a focus on life sciences. Brock's business career started with the Boston Consulting Group. Most recently, Brock was COO and Managing Director of Life Science Insights, an IDC company, a consulting and market research firm specializing in information technology in life sciences. LSI worked with biopharma companies helping them understand how best to leverage information technology at all stages of the business value chain and with life science software and hardware companies helping them understand their market and associated opportunities. Prior to LSI, Brock was an Associate Partner in the Pharmaceutical and Life Sciences practice in IBM's Business Consulting Services group, working with biotech and pharmaceutical clients on issues ranging from R&D portfolios to operations strategies. Brock also has had hands-on operational responsibility in product management and marketing roles in software start-ups as well as additional experience in IT and the healthcare/life science market as the Healthcare Practice Director at Viant Corp. and a Principal at SRI Consulting.